ADVANCED SALES SCHOOL PROVIDES RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR SALES PROFESSIONALS TO PERFECT THEIR CRAFT

Next program takes place February, 7 - 9, 2011 in San Jose, CA

November 15, 2010, San Francisco, CA — A challenging high-ropes course and instruction in Tai Chi by PBS star Lee Holden is not standard fare at most sales training programs, but as students of this popular program soon discover, the Advanced Sales School by M3 Learning, is not your typical sales training seminar.

For starters, this highly interactive program brings together sales professionals from a wide range of company types, sizes and industries for three days of intensive training on high-level sales skills. It's been referred to in the industry as a "Top Gun" facility for those whose aim is best in class. Indeed, the program covers the psychology of what it takes to succeed in sales, as much as the tactical tools of success that one needs to be a high performer in today's complex sales environment.

The program is the brainchild of bestselling author William "Skip" Miller, Founder and President of M3 Learning, a ProActive Sales and Sales Management Training Company based in Silicon Valley, CA. Miller put the program together after years of studying the performance characteristics of the world's top sales professionals. He was intrigued about why some sales people were extraordinarily successful, while others, selling the same product and investing the same amount of time and energy, limped along; calling low, missing quotas, and getting stuck in their own pipeline.

The Advanced Sales School's core curriculum is designed around presentation, communication, selling, and personal development skill sets and gives leading performers the extra edge they need to push themselves into excellence. Fast moving and highly motivating, the course provides an in-depth review of the essentials while providing challenges above and beyond any standard sales program.

"We've discovered that no matter what the obstacles, every sales person holds within them the power to change anything. It's all a matter of desire and using the right tools at the right time," says Miller.

Miller, who heads the School, is regarded as one of the world's leading authorities on sales training. He is the author of the runaway bestseller, ProActive Sales Management, as well as four other bestselling books. For 15 years, he has helped sales executives worldwide build a whole team of high-performing sales superstars. Today, more than 300,000 sales professionals from 35 countries have benefited from M3 Learning's proprietary sales resources.

The next Advanced Sales School takes place on February, 7 - 9, 2011 in San Jose, CA. For more information or to register, please call 866.462.5763 or visit www.M3learning.com.
